The mission of Plains Art Museum is to BRING PEOPLE AND ART TOGETHER FOR LEARNING AND INSPIRATION.

Important events

Fiscal year 2010 brought significant advancement in the Museum's "There's a Little Artist in All of Us" capital campaign. In January, the Museum announced awards of two challenge grants totaling over $1.3 million to be put toward the campaign's goals of building the Center for Creativity, an exciting partnership with Fargo Public Schools to offer unique arts education opportunities for students of all ages, develop an interactive learning gallery on the second floor of the Museum, and strengthen the Museum's endowment. The Kresge Foundation, based in Grand Rapids, Mich., approved an $800,000 award and the Bush Foundation of St. Paul, Minn., approved a $555,000 award. In February, the Museum announced the acquisition of The North Dakota Mural by Pop artist and North Dakota native James Rosenquist, an achievement that completed a major capital campaign goal. Half of the funding for the $1.2 million mural came from an anonymous donor while Rosenquist donated the other half.

In addition to the support provided by these individuals and organizations, these announcements added another level of affirmation to the "Little Artist" campaign and reflected the efforts of Museum Director and CEO Colleen Sheehy, Museum staff, and the Museum board to see the campaign through to completion.

"The Museum's ambitious goals to be a creative thought leader in the community and to offer civic spaces that allow for the safe exploration of ideas and learning are admirable and have the potential to improve the quality of life in the Fargo-Moorhead community," said Pamela Wheelock, Bush Foundation vice president.

The Museum continued its outreach work in FY10 through PlainsArt Cases and Learning Posters, two tools designed to provide arts education resources to rural Minnesota and North Dakota teachers. The posters and the cases are offered free of charge, and both provide resources for classroom discussion and activities. The cases also offer additional resources, including original art works for classroom use and a curriculum that meets national standards for arts education. The Museum's outreach efforts are supported by the Wyeth Foundation for American Art, the National Endowment for the Arts, and the North Dakota Council on the Arts through an appropriation from the North Dakota legislature.

In FY10, the Museum took further steps through its programming to fulfill its mission of bringing people and art together, specifically by addressing the experiences of new American groups in our community. In October, the Museum collaborated with ArtOrg and Grupo Soap del Carazon to present Day of the Dead: Latino Artists Create Steamroller Prints, an exhibition celebrating the artistic traditions in the Latino holiday of Day of the Dead. The same month, an exhibition by Somali-born documentary photographer Abdi Roble highlighted the transitions experienced by Somali immigrants as they adapt to life in the United States.

In January, the Museum opened the exhibition Individual to Icon: Portraits of the Famous and Almost Famous from Folk Art to Facebook, an innovative examination of portraiture and the role images play in turning the known into the unknown. The exhibition pulled together work from thirteen artists, some known locally and others nationally. It also featured a wide variety of media, including photography, portraits made from seeds, and a multimedia display of 3,000 internet video diaries. Individual to Icon proved that the Museum could feature a critical and relevant exhibition that was both insightful and accessible.
