Indigenous Art Fair at Plains Art Museum Rescheduled for April 9

Press Release

For Immediate Release (January 2022)

Fargo, North Dakota – The Indigenous Art Fair has been rescheduled for Saturday, April 9 from 10:00 - 5:00 pm in the First Floor Atrium of Plains Art Museum.

This is the 6th annual Indigenous Art Fair and features Indigenous artists from around the region. This is a juried art fair with 18 spots available. Participating artists are provided with a 6' table and two chairs for their space. Artists are invited to bring their displays for setup and electricity will be provided for those who need it. Please visit <https://plainsart.org/indigenous-art-fair-2022-submission-form/> and complete the form to apply.

The Museum is prepared to offer a $200 stipend to participating artists, please contact, the Director of Native American Programs, Joseph Williams at jwilliams@plainsart.org.

Plains Art Museum is the largest art museum in the Dakotas and Western Minnesota. It is general admission free and educationally-focused thanks to strong and growing support from over 800 households and businesses. The Museum manages a permanent collection of over 4,000 objects, organizes and presents dozens of annual exhibitions, facilitates public art projects, and leads over 200 educational programs and experiences for all ages each year. The Museum, and its Katherine Kilbourne Burgum Center for Creativity, are located at 704 First Avenue North in downtown Fargo.
